Notes and Disclaimer: What does the score mean? The RAVDA score is expressed as the number of years an owner or investor is prepared to wait to receive the total return of funds invested in their business. A high RAVDA score usually indicates lower risks and potentially, a more valuable business.

What is the VIO? We calculate your Value Improvement Opportunity by multiplying your Most Recent Year sales to your industry average profit margins and cap rates. We then used RAVDA benchmarks to calculate a value unit for each RAVDA increment and determine your Value Improvement Opportunity. The amounts in each column show how your business value can increase when you improve to industry average or benchmark (top 20%) performance.
